

To Apply

This program welcomes undergraduate and graduate students, college and K-12 faculty. All participants must complete an application form. The application deadline is May 18, 2009. Applications received after this date will be considered if space is available.

To request application materials, please contact:

Susan Griffin
Division of Corporate, Continuing and Distance
Education
UMass Boston
100 Morrissey Boulevard
Boston, MA 02125-3393
617.287.7278
Fax: 617.287.7922
susan.griffin@umb.edu

For inquiries about travel, program itinerary and other logistical details, please contact:

Shauna Murray
HSA@umb.edu

For academic information, contact:

Marc Prou
Africana Studies Department, W-4-103
UMass Boston
100 Morrissey Boulevard
Boston, MA 02125
617.287.6796
marc.prou@umb.edu

ccde.umb.edu/international/haiti/summer

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS BOSTON
DIVISION OF CORPORATE, CONTINUING AND DISTANCE EDUCATION
100 Morrissey Boulevard
Boston, MA 02125-3393

Haiti Today: People, Culture & Politics

July 13-August 7, 2009

AFRICANA STUDIES DEPARTMENT

DIVISION OF CORPORATE,
CONTINUING AND DISTANCE
EDUCATION

Haiti Today: People, Culture & Politics

July 13–August 7, 2009

A Summer 2009 international study program in collaboration with L'Institut National d'Administration, de Gestion et Des Hautes Etudes Internationales (INAGHEI)

This summer the Africana Studies Department, together with the Trotter Institute, will offer a unique academic program on location in Haiti. This program explores the history, politics, culture, and the economic and social developments taking place in Haiti, from both external and internal perspectives. It will facilitate students' understanding of Haiti through total immersion into culture, environment, language, and the country's economic, political and social realities.

Students will visit significant historical, cultural, and ecological sites in various towns including day trips to St. Marc, Gonaives and Kenscoff. Other planned trips include a two-day eco-excursion to the beautiful, artistic and literary town of Jacmel in southeastern Haiti, and a special two-day historic and cultural field trip to the north in Cap Haitien to visit the Citadel and King Henri Christophe's Sans-Souci palace ruins in the town of Milot.

In addition to attending daily class seminars, field trips to museums and historical sites, participants will work in small field service learning projects.

This program facilitates understanding through immersion into culture, environment and language

Additional activities include presentations by INAGHEI's faculty, local experts, participation in local cultural events, and meetings with civic and political leaders.

Students are expected to attend two preparatory sessions at UMass Boston, read the assigned materials, and be prepared to participate in class discussions.

Faculty

Program Director Professor Marc Prou is Chair of the Africana Studies Department and Director of the Haitian Institute. He has considerable travel and study experience in Caribbean countries, and regularly takes study groups abroad to Cuba, Jamaica and Haiti.

Professor Alix Cantave, Associate Director at the William M. Trotter Institute, will join the faculty. Professor Cantave currently directs the university-partnership development projects with public and private institutions of higher education in Haiti.

The faculty will be assisted by Shauna Murray, Research Assistant at the Haitian Studies Project, for all logistical inquiries.

Haiti

Haiti (or AYITI) is an Awarak-derived name of the second largest island in the Caribbean, which houses both the Republic of Haiti and the Dominican Republic. Located between Cuba, Puerto Rico and Jamaica, it shares borders with the Dominican Republic on the eastern side.

Haiti has had an extraordinary social and political history since its liberation movement resulted in a Declaration of Independence from France in 1804. Thus Haiti became the second country in the Americas, after the United States, to break ties with colonial rule. However, after two centuries of self-rule, this free nation still faces economic, political, and social challenges.

Despite this, the Haitian people have maintained their unique ethnic, linguistic, and cultural heritage, distinct from other nations in the Caribbean and Latin American regions.

Location

The program will take place on the campus of L'INAGHEI (UEH) located in Port-au-Prince, and also in Montrouis, which is situated on the western coast of Haiti. The town of Montrouis is centrally located about 70 km from Port-au-Prince and provides easy access to the Central Plateau, as well as both the northern and southern parts of the country.

Courses and Credit

Participants register for two three-credit courses: AFRSTY 480, Haiti: Culture and Politics and AFRSTY 478, Independent Study. The Independent Study project will be completed upon the participants' return from Haiti.

Upon successful completion of the program, students will be awarded six credits from the Africana Studies Department. By special permission, students may receive credit for independent study from the Political Science Department or the International Relations Program.

Fees

The cost for this program is $2,450. This fee covers all instruction, field trips, room and board in Haiti, and all local transportation in Haiti. The fee does not include insurance or transportation between the US and Haiti or meals while in the towns of Gonaives, St. Marc, Jacmel and Cap Haitien. The Independent Study option fee is $450.

Haiti became the second country in the Americas... to break ties with colonial rule

